The Queen's Prize at Kempton Park was won by Mr. P. Heybourn's Trespasser (13 to 8 against). Mr. Walker's Double Up was second and Mr. Straker's Hunt Law third. The Lancashire Steeplechase at Manchester was won by Mr. Dixon's Black Lamb (10 to 1 against), Mr. Hatry's Chin Chin being second and Mr. Ismay's Garryvoe third.—(P. 4.)

At Fairyhouse yesterday the Irish Grand National was won by Mr. A. Willis' Bohernore (7 to 1), Mr. J. J. Kennedy's Greenogue (6 to 1) being second and Mr. E. Delany's Pam Nut (8 to 1) third.—(P. 4.)

A New War.

The civilised peoples of the world are so thoroughly sick of war in all its forms that the news of the latest Greek offensive in Asia Minor has failed to excite even the mildest interest. No rational excuse can be found for a fresh war against the Turks, and Greece's folly in plunging into a costly offensive is as great as that of Poland last summer in her reckless invasion of Bolshevist Russia. Greece has no money. Even should she realise her wildest ambition and drive the Turks into the Black Sea, she will never get a penny of indemnity out of them. Who, then, will pay for her little war? France dislikes the Greeks intensely and has been pursuing a pro-Turkish policy ever since the Armistice. Italy would be very sorry to see a Hellenic hegemony in Asia Minor and is not likely to waste her money in a loan to Athens. Britain has declared strict neutrality and has washed her hands of the whole affair. From the Allies, therefore, Greece can expect no help, and, now that she has started a senseless war, she must be prepared to accept all the risks which it involves. Her action is an attempt to present the Supreme Council with an accomplished fact. The London Conference proposed to send a Commission to Smyrna in order to decide, once and for all, to whom it should be allotted. The Turks, strangely enough, accepted this proposal—doubtless, with mental reservations—but the Greeks rejected it sans phrase. They prepared to attack the Turks, who, very naturally, took instant steps to defend themselves. Mustapha Kemal made friends with the Central Government at Constantinople and patched up peace with the French in Cilicia, thus releasing a large number of troops for use against the hereditary foe.

Hostilities began on Thursday. General Papoulas, the Greek Commander-in-Chief, attacked the Turks at Brusa in the north and Ushak in the south. The River Gallo was crossed in the northern sector, and the Greek troops advanced some thirteen miles from their base. According to themselves, they had even greater success in the south, where they forged ahead for about nineteen miles, chasing the Turks before them. Later reports from Athens declare that the offensive is developing according to plan. The Turks are being trounced all along the line, hundreds of prisoners and large quantities of material are being taken, and the losses of the Greeks are negligible. Yesterday General Papoulas announced that his forces had arrived at a point only six kilometres west of Afiun Karahissar, which is the principal Greek objective, and his bulletin gives one the impression that, but for the fall of night, they would have occupied the town. He also asserts that his advance in the north has proceeded without a hitch, and that his line now is only a few miles away from Eskishehr, which is his other objective. A very different story comes from Angora. The Turks announce that the first two days' engagement in the Brusa sector has resulted in an easy victory for their arms. The Greeks' offensive, they assert, has been a sorry failure; a resolute counter-attack by the Turkish infantry has put them to flight, and they are running for their lives back to Brusa with Ottoman cavalry hot upon their heels. Clearly, both reports cannot be true, and, as between Greek and Turk, there is little to choose in regard to veracity. The Greeks, very probably, have advanced; but Mustapha Kemal will not allow them to occupy the railway between Constantinople and Angora without a struggle, and General Papoulas may discover in the next few days that he has undertaken a formidable task.

The Greeks are as confident of an early victory as the Germans were in the autumn of 1914. Then Kaiser Wilhelm boasted that he would eat his Christmas dinner in Paris; now his brother-in-law's supporters declare that Mass will be celebrated in the Church of St. Sophia on May 17th—the Orthodox Easter. In the meanwhile both belligerents may be reminded that there is such a thing as the Treaty of Sèvres. This instrument has many critics. It is very far from perfect, and the Allies have accepted the necessity of revision. Nevertheless, pending such revision by the Supreme Council the Treaty must stand. Mustapha Kemal is reported to have said that it "does not exist," and the Greeks, very obviously, do not propose to be bound by any of its provisions which do not happen to suit them. The launch of the offensive in Asia Minor and Mustapha Kemal's acceptance of the challenge have made the Treaty of Sèvres a dead letter for the time being. Should the Greeks succeed in occupying Constantinople, or the Turks succeed in driving them out of Smyrna, the application of the Treaty's clauses will become a practical impossibility. From the point of view of those who support the Treaty, the victory of either side will be disastrous. The die, however, seems to have been cast and it is much easier to start a war than to stop it. For the present the Allies can do nothing to prevent the Greeks and Turks from slaughtering each other unless they take sides. They must remain aloof from the conflict in Asia Minor and confine their activities to the protection of their own interests. They should lose no time, however, in making one thing clear to both belligerents. Whatever be the result of this crazy war, they, and they alone, will decide the fate of the territory which is in dispute.

The Cattle Trade.

Once more the Irish cattle trade has been brought to a stand-still. On Saturday an official of the English Ministry of Agriculture discovered what he believed to be symptoms of foot-and-mouth disease in an animal that had been sent from Dublin to Birkenhead, and an order was issued suspending all shipments of cattle from the Irish capital. The closing of the export trade's main channel was a heavy blow, but worse was to follow. Yesterday the Department of Agriculture received a telegram to the effect that on Sunday it was established that nine Irish "strippers" which had been sent to Derby via Holyhead on the 22nd inst. were suffering from foot-and-mouth disease and that all the Irish ports must be closed. We admit that in cases of this kind drastic measures are necessary and that isolation and slaughter are the only weapons with which foot-and-mouth disease can be fought successfully. The English authorities have not exceeded their powers, but we feel that they have pushed matters to extremes and have acted with undue severity. There is no clear evidence that the nine cows carried the disease from Ireland. On the contrary, there is strong ground for belief that they contracted it while in England. The "plague" has been rife in Great Britain for the last three months, and Derbyshire is on the borders of one of the scheduled areas. With the single exception of the recent outbreak in County Wicklow foot-and-mouth disease has not raised its ugly head in Ireland since 1913. If it is assumed, however, that the cattle were infected in Ireland, the restrictions still seem to be unnecessarily severe. Experience has shown that the isolation of comparatively small areas is quite sufficient to keep the disease from spreading, and, as only six days have elapsed since the cattle crossed the Irish Sea, it should be a simple matter to trace the district from which they were sent. We trust that the Department already has taken steps with that object, and that, in the course of a few days, it will be able to give the English authorities an assurance that the general embargo can be removed with safety. The maintenance of the present restrictions for even a week would mean enormous losses to Irish farmers. There are hundreds of "finished" cattle ready for the market, and with every day's delay their value depreciates. Moreover, thousands of store cattle are ready for shipment, and the English and Scottish "finishers" are in urgent need of them. Much depends upon the way in which Irish farmers co-operate with the authorities. If any farmer suspects that there is a case of foot-and-mouth disease in his neighbourhood, he should not hesitate to report the matter at once. Reluctance to give information may imperil not only his own, but the national, prosperity. One of the most unfortunate aspects of the situation is the fact that it furnishes the English advocates of "cheap meat" with another argument in favour of the removal of the embargo on Canadian store cattle.

Holiday Weather.

A veteran official of the Dublin and South-Eastern Railway Company was astonished at the tameness of Easter Monday. He spoke in answer to a question which was prompted by the sight of vacant beaches and lonesome railway platforms on the whole journey between Greystones and Westland row. As things happened, the stay-at-homes escaped a bad wetting, but few of them can have predicted a sudden break of weather. It may be that the precocious birth of spring had disordered our ideas of time and led us to expect, foolishly, the populous joys of June at Killiney and Kingstown in the latter days of March. Until yesterday—for the break seems to be general—the whole of Northern Europe had been flattered into the belief that it was standing at the gate of summer. It is true that Northern Persia and other remote places were groaning under a winter of unparalleled severity, but in France, England, and Ireland nature has rushed brilliantly into bud and leaf and has bathed her grateful children in sunshine and balmy airs. Overcoats have been put away in London and Dublin, and the indescribable glamour of Paris in spring-time has attracted hundreds of British visitors. For the moment—we hope that it is only for the moment—the spell has been interrupted. A sharp drop in the temperature recalls the facts of the calendar and sends us scurrying back into winter quarters. In any case, our national troubles have damped the holiday spirit in Dublin. We suspect that excursions "down the line" were shunned yesterday for two reasons. People do not care to be far from their homes in these days of raids, outrages, and alarms, and they refuse to take the smallest risk of being caught out of doors by the eight o'clock Curfew. The effects of that social kill-joy are about to be made more devastating than ever by the arrival of "summer-time."

Fists and Purses.

The war, with its wide enforcement of physical fitness, gave a great stimulus to amateur boxing. The "noble art" never was more popular in the public schools and city gymnasia than it is to-day. On the other hand, professional pugilism is falling swiftly out of favour with the community which follows sport for sport's sake. In many ways the character and conduct of the "ring" have improved vastly since mid-Victorian times. The old ruffianism and reckless habits have disappeared and some of to-day's most formidable fighters are citizens of excellent repute. It is the new spirit of commercialism that is making the "ring" unpopular with all except the sporting financiers, the cinematograph companies, and the mere gamblers. The purses for which big fights are now arranged—when they are arranged at all—are out of all proportion to their value as athletic performances. Carpentier and Dempsey are kings of their trade, but when we read that a purse of £100,000 is being offered for a match between them in England on Derby Day we feel that the limit is being reached. The system of huge rewards for fights which may stretch to thirty rounds, but also may be decided in one, is bound to collapse, sooner or later, through its own extravagance. We wonder how much Tom Spring got for the victory of which it is recorded that, "seeing how weak Jack Langan was, Tom Spring did not strike him in the forty-ninth round, but gently pushed him over with the palm of his hand."

FROM WAR TO PEACE.

TRAINING OF MEN.

Men who were shattered in the war and rendered incapable of following their pre-war occupations are being trained by the Ministry of Labour in increasing numbers for new trades adapted to their disability. Since the 17th of August, 1919, nearly 28,000 men have been trained in the Government instructional factories and training centres; about 25,000 men are at present in training, and about 16,000 are awaiting training, the Irish figures accounting for approximately 25 per cent. of the waiting list. During the past year the public have seen for themselves at the Efficiency Exhibition at Olympia and at various exhibitions the kind of the work these men are capable of turning out, and a further opportunity will be given them at a special exhibition at the Public Hall, Ipswich, on April 4th. This latter exhibition is to be opened by Dr. Macnamara, the Minister of Labour, who has, during his year of office at Montagu House, personally visited the men in training at a large number of centres in different parts of the country. At the forthcoming exhibition at Ipswich, which is intended to appeal to the employers of East Anglia, the comprehensiveness of the training given will be appreciated when it is realised that the following trades will be represented:—Cabinet-making, carpentry and joinery, painting and sign-writing, tailoring, hair-dressing, vehicle-building, estate carpentry, bricklaying, basket-making, wood-carving, upholstery, boot and shoe repairing, watch and clock mending, art metal work, cooking, horticulture, etc. The Government instructional factory at Barham House will be the principal exhibitors, and the training centres at Cambridge and Romford will also be represented. At Barham House special interest is taken in the social life of the men, and their concert party will give several performances during the exhibition. On April 12th men who have been trained in the building trades will be seen at work at the International Building Trades Exhibition at Olympia. In view of the present position with regard to the building trades, this exhibition should prove of more than ordinary interest. Disabled ex-Service men will there be seen at work as bricklayers, carpenters, joiners, plasterers, masons, painters and decorators, and builders' draughtsmen—in fact, in all the different branches of the house-building industry.

ARCHBISHOP MANNIX AND PEACE.

COMPLETE INDEPENDENCE NECESSARY.

The Rector of the Irish College to-day (says a Rome telegram of Monday's date) gave a reception in honour of Archbishop Mannix in the library of the College, which was decorated with Irish flags. The Archbishop, in a speech, expressed his faith in the future of Ireland, and said that he hoped that friendship would be established between the Irish and the English peoples, but, in order that this might be attained, Ireland must achieve complete and absolute independence.

WHIST DRIVES AND CHARITY.

GOOD TEMPLARS' OPINION.

The propriety of raising money for religious and charitable purposes by whist drives was among the matters discussed at the annual session of the Good Templars Grand Lodge, at Plymouth, yesterday.

The Grand Chief Templar (Lieutenant-Colonel Dimmer, O.B.E.), said that in 1912 the then Grand Chief Templar ruled that it was improper to implicate the Order in whist drives, and the Grand Lodge endorsed that ruling. He had consequently maintained this decision.

The Grand Chief's action was challenged, but was endorsed by a large majority.

CAVALRY REGIMENTS.

The following letter from Lord Rathcreedan appears in The Times:—

SIR,—The Parliamentary recess must be my excuse for claiming your valuable space to make the following matter clear. The Under-Secretary of State for War, in replying to a question of mine in the House of Lords on the 23rd inst. concerning the reduction of cavalry regiments, stated that "the dominant principle on the question of disbandment must turn on the length of service." Now the 5th Lancers was re-embodied on February 3, 1858, whereas the 18th Hussars was re-raised on February 23, 1858, consequently the dominant principle has been ignored.

As regards the avoiding of administrative difficulties by preserving an even balance of Hussars and Lancers, seeing that until recently the 21st Lancers were Hussars, by restoring them to Hussars the difficulty vanishes.

The final plea of the Under-Secretary of State as to preserving the balance between English and Irish regiments is to me something entirely new. Is there, or has there ever been, any fixed proportion in the Army between English and Irish regiments? I think not. From his own statement it would appear that there has been favouritism shown to one regiment at the expense of injustice to another, and that regiment an Irish regiment. My Irish friends have now another injustice added to their long list. It would be interesting to know Field-Marshal French's and General Allenby's sentiments upon the action about to be taken by the War Office.—I am faithfully yours,

RATHCREEDAN (late Capt., 5th Lancers).

LONDON CORRESPONDENCE.

59 FLEET STREET, LONDON,
MONDAY NIGHT.

Easter Monday in London was a day of gusty squalls, with occasional heavy showers and a most penetrating cold wind. The thermometer fell to 48 as compared with 61 on Friday last. The unfavourable prospect, however, did not deter the holiday-makers, and the railway stations in the early morning were crowded with people going for the cheap railway trips, while the roads leading out of London were filled with huge motor chars-à-bancs and private cars, all laden with people who seemed to be thoroughly enjoying themselves. Snow is reported from Scotland, and it is said that it is coming south. After the weather experience of this Easter many people will be in favour of Lord Desborough's Bill that the Easter holiday should be on a fixed date nearer the middle of April than to-day.

It was a great day for the sportsman to-day, and it is possible that more people went down to Putney to see the crews practise than will be present on Wednesday. For a mile up the river from Putney the crowds were very thick, and the crews had quite an ovation. Sides were taken very freely, and arguments were many. Football matches were numerous, and all were attended by big crowds. At Kempton Park great crowds gathered for the racing, and the crush was so heavy that the gates of the cheap enclosure were broken down and the people surged in without payment. The theatres also did extremely well.

A feature of the Easter holiday on the road has been the revival of the bicycle. With the development of the motor cycle the "push cycle," as it has come to be termed, went out of favour, but recently it has returned to popularity, and cycling clubs, which went to pieces during the war, have built themselves up again. Mixed clubs appear to be flourishing, for quite a number of girl riders were to be seen among the various groups which left London to-day for a spin in the country.

The Palace Theatre was opened this afternoon as a cinema, the main attraction being a great film, "The Dawn of the World." Mrs. Patrick Campbell recited a prologue specially written for the film. She was assisted by three children, who, having tired of play, come to their mother and ask for a story. The mother tells them of the Old Testament, and so the pictures of the Creation and of the Old Testament story follow on naturally. The film, made in Italy, is a most artistic production, and occupies two and a half hours in the display.

Sir Robert Horne, who is due in London to-morrow, will try to bring about peace in the coal world, with a view to obtaining a truce for further negotiations. Otherwise, coal-getting will cease by the end of the week. It is said that Sir Robert will be instructed by the Government to make clear its determination that all suggestions for a further subsidising of the coal industry must be rejected absolutely. The furthest the Government will go is to hand over the balance of the "pool" at the end of the control period; but what that "pool" contains is problematical. It has been so much drawn upon that it may contain nothing. Some of the owners think that it has been exhausted, and so attach little importance to the offer. The coal outlook at the moment is certainly most unpromising.

It has been said more than once that the Prime Minister intended to propose at the meeting of the Imperial Conference that a central organisation should be created for the purposes of Imperial defence. It seems that the statement was incorrect, for the Colonial Office has intimated to the Governors-General and Governors of the Dominions that Mr. Lloyd George has no such intention. The present step has been taken because it was necessary to allay the fears excited in some of the Dominions that the home Government was preparing a defence scheme to bind the Empire together in a common policy in peace-time. It is said that no such scheme has been thought of, but, to the ordinary person, it would seem to have much sense in it. The Empire has been caught napping once; it ought not to be allowed to be caught again.

When the House of Commons meets again after the holidays another election under the methods of proportional representation will take place. This time it will not be by votes in the newspapers, but by votes on newspapers. A tin box containing copies of five London newspapers is to be placed in the foundation stone of a great building. The members of the House are to be given a list of eleven daily newspapers, and asked to make a choice of three. The method of counting the votes and the election will be explained to the members in a committee room on April 7th. The object is to familiarise the members with the idea of proportional representation before a discussion takes place on Sir T. Bramsdon's Bill on the subject.

The annual Service of the Order of St. Michael and St. George will be held in St. Paul's Cathedral on Friday, April 22nd. The Service is usually held in the Chapel of the Order, but this year it will be held under the dome, owing to the presence of the Prince of Wales, the Grand Master of the Order. The Prince, when he arrives, will be met on the steps of the Cathedral by the officers of the Order, and will take part in a procession to the dome. The Knights Grand Cross will also take part in this procession. All present are to be in full dress or uniform. The ceremony is generally an imposing one, and includes the taking down of the banners of the Knights who have died during the year and placing those of the new Knights in their place. This part of the ceremonial, which has to be held in the Chapel, will be postponed until a later date.

The Soviet Government announces through its wireless service that a large order for locomotives has been placed in this country. It may be true, for inquiries have been made in several directions of late by the Russians as to the possibility of placing orders for large quantities of goods which they require. These orders, however, are still only contemplated, and the Board of Trade authorities do not place any great amount of confidence in the possibility of their ever being definitely given. Orders from Russia would necessitate large payments in gold, and, until there has been a test case on this point, Russian buyers are scarcely likely to commit themselves to any great sum. Nearly everything is held up until this point is settled.

The decision of the master builders to absorb 50,000 ex-Service men in the building trade is unlikely to be accepted by the National Federation of Building Trades Operatives without trouble. The employers have asked the representatives of the Federation to meet them on Friday next, but the representatives declare that they do not see how they can profitably meet the employers when they have already decided what their course of action is to be. Inasmuch as the employers' meeting is to complete the arrangements for putting into operation the scheme agreed to with the Government, the indications point to a struggle between the two sides before the 50,000 ex-Service men find work provided for them.

WEATHER FORECAST.

General Inference—A deep depression, centred over the North of Scotland, is moving eastward. The west wind current over the British Isles is likely to reach gale force locally, and there will be much cloud, with rain in places. An improvement will spread from the west during Tuesday.

Ireland—Wind north-westerly, fresh or strong, showery at first, fair later; visibility fair to good; colder.

FOOT-AND-MOUTH DISEASE.

ANOTHER CASE REPORTED.

ALL IRISH EXPORTS STOPPED.

In view of repeated inquiries made with regard to developments in connection with the reported cases of foot-and-mouth disease among Irish animals in Great Britain, the Department of Agriculture desires to make it known that, in addition to the report from Birkenhead, the Ministry of Agriculture, London, on the 27th inst., confirmed disease on premises near Derby in a lot of nine stripper cows, shipped from Dublin to Holyhead on the 22nd.

A Superintending Veterinary Officer of the Department is now in England investigating all the cases on the spot, and other veterinary officers are pursuing inquiries at the places in Ireland from whence the reported animals in each instance were sent to Great Britain. Meanwhile, and until further notice, the Ministry of Agriculture has prohibited the export of all animals (not including horses) from any port in Ireland to any port in Great Britain. Intending shippers would be well advised not to send forward animals for shipment to any of the Irish ports until the way is clear.

INJURIOUS EFFECT ON TRADE.

A prominent Dublin cattle salesman stated last night that the outbreaks of disease and the consequent Orders of the Ministry of Agriculture prohibiting the export of all animals, except horses, from Ireland would have a most injurious effect upon the trade. At present large numbers of cattle were being "finished" in the stalls, and were ready for sale, and these would have to be kept, or sold at a much reduced price, owing to the shortage of food. The store cattle trade, he said, would be ruined. The prohibition was a very serious thing at this time of the year, when store cattle were greatly in demand in England and Scotland.

CHIEF JUSTICES OF THE KING'S BENCH IN IRELAND.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—Dr. Elrington Ball, whose authority on matters of Irish history is supreme, in his most interesting letter in your columns on Thursday last, which constitutes a very valuable specimen of his research and learning, states, in my judgment with his accustomed accuracy, that the holders of the great office of Chief Justice of the Irish King's Bench from the reign of Elizabeth till the accession of George I. were, with four exceptions only, men of Irish birth or blood or antecedents, and that from the Hanoverian succession till the present time the Chief Justiceship of the Irish King's Bench and its successor, the Chief Justiceship of Ireland, have been filled by Irishmen. Having regard to the fact that in the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries the highest posts in the law in Ireland were monopolised by Englishmen—Blackstone, for instance, the famous author of the "Commentaries," had the refusal of the Chief Justiceship of the Irish Court of Common Pleas—what was the reason for the filling of the Chief Justiceship of the King's Bench by Irishmen, who were excluded from other great judicial positions in their own country? The Chief Justiceship of the King's Bench in Ireland was open to Irishmen because, in the words of Mr. Lecky, "it was so inadequately remunerated that it was scarcely an object to a great lawyer."

The first Marquis Townshend, who was Lord Lieutenant of Ireland from 1767 till 1772, in a letter to Lord Shelburne, who was then the medium of official communications between the Irish Government and the English Cabinet, writing on December 20th, 1767, says that the salary of the Chief Justice of the King's Bench in Ireland was at least £500 or £600 a year lower than that of the Chief Justice of Common Pleas, "for which reason, though the Chief Justiceship of the King's Bench is usually given to a gentleman of this country, it seldom becomes an object for any person high in business to look up to. . . I have great reason to believe this office is not at present worth more than £1,400 per annum." In 1769 Sir Hercules Langrishe, a distinguished member of the Irish House of Commons, wrote: "The heads of the Church, the State, the Army, and the Law in Ireland have for a course of years been of another country. . . Of the seven chief judicial offices only two are occupied by Irishmen."—Yours, etc.,

J. G. SWIFT MACNEILL.

IRISH NATIONAL TEACHERS.

FORTHCOMING ANNUAL CONGRESS.

REPORT OF THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.

The fifty-third annual Congress of the Irish National Teachers' Organisation will be held on Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday in next week at 31 Rutland square.

The annual report of the Central Executive Committee will be presented on Tuesday afternoon. It states that the first resolution adopted at the previous Congress related to the Education Bill, and empowered the Committee to enter into a conference with bodies interested in education for the purpose of initiating proposals which would bring the Bill into harmony with the aspirations of the Irish people. The Committee entered into correspondence with the Most Rev. Dr. Foley with a view to arranging a discussion with the Roman Catholic Hierarchy on the proposed demands to be made to the Government. These included the substitution of an Education Board for the Department of Education outlined in the Bill, the Board to have control of primary and secondary, and, possibly, technical education. The Board also to have all the powers which were to be given to the proposed department, the constitution of the suggested Board to be settled by the conference. The Committee also emphasised the opinion that the final settlement of the whole education question in Ireland should rest with the Irish people, any legislation by the Government in the meantime to be regarded as a temporary expedient.

The result of the correspondence, however, showed that no good purpose would be served by pursuing the matter further. The Committee recorded an expression of regret that advantage was not taken of the opportunity which offered in the early portion of 1920 of securing remedial educational legislation for the whole of Ireland, and of legally establishing the right of this country to its full proportionate quota of education grants.

IMPROVED SALARIES AND PENSIONS.

A formal demand was made in June for the revised scale of salaries adopted by the last Congress. The Treasury offered an interim grant, but would not fix a permanent scale, and refused to submit the matter to the Arbitration Board. The Committee secured an equitable interim grant and obtained the withdrawal of the Treasury's objection to the Arbitration Board, which then decided that a permanent scale should be fixed, and this was finally arranged on the 29th November.

A conference was later held with the National Board with reference to a pension scheme, and a formal application was made to the Treasury to promote a bill embodying the terms agreed upon at the conference.

HELPFUL NEGOTIATIONS.

The rule which forbade teachers to stand for elections to local councils was withdrawn after negotiations with the Commissioners.

Negotiations were in progress for settling the question of School Programmes of Work.

The rules relating to the heating and cleaning of schools were the subject of a deputation to the Commissioners, and it was laid down that teachers were not responsible.

The Committee reports that it had before it several cases of individual hardship where advice and assistance were given.

Certain recommendations for making the organisation more efficient will be put before the Congress.

OBITUARY.

MR. CHARLES HADDON CHAMBERS.

The death occurred suddenly in London yesterday of Mr. Charles Haddon Chambers, novelist and playwright, in his 61st year. Mr. Chambers had had a varied career. CHIEF JUSTICES OF THE KING'S BENCH IN IRELAND.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—Dr. Elrington Ball, whose authority on matters of Irish history is supreme, in his most interesting letter in your columns on Thursday last, which constitutes a very valuable specimen of his research and learning, states, in my judgment with his accustomed accuracy, that the holders of the great office of Chief Justice of the Irish King's Bench from the reign of Elizabeth till the accession of George I. were, with four exceptions only, men of Irish birth or blood or antecedents, and that from the Hanoverian succession till the present time the Chief Justiceship of the Irish King's Bench and its successor, the Chief Justiceship of Ireland, have been filled by Irishmen. Having regard to the fact that in the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries the highest posts in the law in Ireland were monopolised by Englishmen—Blackstone, for instance, the famous author of the "Commentaries," had the refusal of the Chief Justiceship of the Irish Court of Common Pleas—what was the reason for the filling of the Chief Justiceship of the King's Bench by Irishmen, who were excluded from other great judicial positions in their own country? The Chief Justiceship of the King's Bench in Ireland was open to Irishmen because, in the words of Mr. Lecky, "it was so inadequately remunerated that it was scarcely an object to a great lawyer."

The first Marquis Townshend, who was Lord Lieutenant of Ireland from 1767 till 1772, in a letter to Lord Shelburne, who was then the medium of official communications between the Irish Government and the English Cabinet, writing on December 20th, 1767, says that the salary of the Chief Justice of the King's Bench in Ireland was at least £500 or £600 a year lower than that of the Chief Justice of Common Pleas, "for which reason, though the Chief Justiceship of the King's Bench is usually given to a gentleman of this country, it seldom becomes an object for any person high in business to look up to. . . I have great reason to believe this office is not at present worth more than £1,400 per annum." In 1769 Sir Hercules Langrishe, a distinguished member of the Irish House of Commons, wrote: "The heads of the Church, the State, the Army, and the Law in Ireland have for a course of years been of another country. . . Of the seven chief judicial offices only two are occupied by Irishmen."—Yours, etc.,

J. G. SWIFT MACNEILL.

IRISH NATIONAL TEACHERS.

FORTHCOMING ANNUAL CONGRESS.

REPORT OF THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.

The fifty-third annual Congress of the Irish National Teachers' Organisation will be held on Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday in next week at 31 Rutland square.

The annual report of the Central Executive Committee will be presented on Tuesday afternoon. It states that the first resolution adopted at the previous Congress related to the Education Bill, and empowered the Committee to enter into a conference with bodies interested in education for the purpose of initiating proposals which would bring the Bill into harmony with the aspirations of the Irish people. The Committee entered into correspondence with the Most Rev. Dr. Foley with a view to arranging a discussion with the Roman Catholic Hierarchy on the proposed demands to be made to the Government. These included the substitution of an Education Board for the Department of Education outlined in the Bill, the Board to have control of primary and secondary, and, possibly, technical education. The Board also to have all the powers which were to be given to the proposed department, the constitution of the suggested Board to be settled by the conference. The Committee also emphasised the opinion that the final settlement of the whole education question in Ireland should rest with the Irish people, any legislation by the Government in the meantime to be regarded as a temporary expedient.

The result of the correspondence, however, showed that no good purpose would be served by pursuing the matter further. The Committee recorded an expression of regret that advantage was not taken of the opportunity which offered in the early portion of 1920 of securing remedial educational legislation for the whole of Ireland, and of legally establishing the right of this country to its full proportionate quota of education grants.

IMPROVED SALARIES AND PENSIONS.

A formal demand was made in June for the revised scale of salaries adopted by the last Congress. The Treasury offered an interim grant, but would not fix a permanent scale, and refused to submit the matter to the Arbitration Board. The Committee secured an equitable interim grant and obtained the withdrawal of the Treasury's objection to the Arbitration Board, which then decided that a permanent scale should be fixed, and this was finally arranged on the 29th November.

A conference was later held with the National Board with reference to a pension scheme, and a formal application was made to the Treasury to promote a bill embodying the terms agreed upon at the conference.

HELPFUL NEGOTIATIONS.

The rule which forbade teachers to stand for elections to local councils was withdrawn after negotiations with the Commissioners.

Negotiations were in progress for settling the question of School Programmes of Work.

The rules relating to the heating and cleaning of schools were the subject of a deputation to the Commissioners, and it was laid down that teachers were not responsible.

The Committee reports that it had before it several cases of individual hardship where advice and assistance were given.

Certain recommendations for making the organisation more efficient will be put before the Congress.

OBITUARY.

MR. CHARLES HADDON CHAMBERS.

The death occurred suddenly in London yesterday of Mr. Charles Haddon Chambers, novelist and playwright, in his 61st year. Mr. Chambers had had a varied career. He was born in Sydney, New South Wales, of Irish parents, and was educated at Marrickville and Fort street public schools. He entered the New South Wales Civil Service in 1875, but left it two years later to become a stockrider in the Bush. He visited Great Britain and Ireland in 1880, and returned again to England in 1882, where he became a journalist, story writer, and dramatic author. He published a number of books, and several of his plays were very popular. Mr. Chambers was a notable athlete.

FROM "THE TIMES" OF TO-DAY.

(BY SPECIAL ARRANGEMENT WITH THE PROPRIETORS OF THE TIMES.)

OUR CHANGING CONSTITUTION.

The Times, in a leading article to-day, says:—The war effected deep and far-reaching changes in the daily working of our Constitution, which tend to harden into changes in the Constitution itself. The causes of some among them reach back to a period long before 1914, and have been the more or less inevitable consequences of the normal and healthy process of the national growth. But the changes wrought by the war are of another character. The Executive tends more and more to arrogate to itself the undivided government of the State, and the Executive is no longer a Cabinet in the old sense of the word. The doctrine of collective responsibility, which is essential to the due authority of Parliament, has disappeared. The present Government are not wholly to blame for the situation, proceeds The Times. It grew, and grew naturally, out of the war, and, perhaps, they would have been more than human had they not taken advantage of it. The Asquith Coalition aggravated the evil of swollen Cabinets which had been increasing for some years. With the life and death struggle of the war the formation of an inner Cabinet inside this unwieldy body became essential to efficiency. This War Cabinet, as constituted by Mr. Lloyd George, became practically a Committee for the prosecution of the conflict, and it proved itself an invaluable engine for this supreme purpose. As a consequence, departmental Ministers were left with a measure of independence such as none of their predecessors had enjoyed. They appeared, as they still appear, before the Cabinet, attended by their experts, more like witnesses before a Royal Commission than as responsible colleagues. The creation of the Supreme Council cut off from real Cabinet control the whole vast field of policy connected with the peace. That was determined by the Prime Minister or by his representative, and the Foreign Office had little or nothing to do with the decisions. The danger to the Constitution, and to the liberties it guards, is that this system is being continued very largely to this day. We are now living under an Executive which has taken to itself exorbitant powers. They are war powers, administered in a war spirit. Spirit and powers were excellent in the war, but in peace they imperil Parliamentary government, and, indeed, the Constitution itself.

The Parliamentary Correspondent of The Times, writing on the same subject, observes that there is a growing feeling, which finds expression in many quarters, that power is being more and more centralised in Downing street. This process runs counter to the spirit of the age, and the House of Commons is at last chafing under it. Parliament seems to be no longer the organ of checks and balances which Walter Bagehot found so admirable half a century ago, and the Government has an altogether disproportionate power in face of the House of Commons, its constitutional master. This vital aspect of public affairs has become prominent on two or three occasions already in the present Session, chiefly through the attempt of uncoordinated departments to pass measures restrictive of the liberty of the subject. It is more than ever before engaging the attention of thoughtful Parliamentarians in all quarters of the House, and it will be raised on the plea of urgency within the next few weeks. When once the country is sufficiently roused there must be a speedy reversion to the constitutional status quo ante bellum. There are signs that a popular attack on the war powers of the Peace Cabinet is at hand.

EMPIRE TIES.

There have been signs recently of uneasiness in the Dominions about the meeting of Empire Prime Ministers in June next, and yesterday our Australian Correspondent expressed current doubts in a very significant dispatch, remarks The Times in its editorial comments to-day. He told us that Australian opinion was disturbed by certain passages in Mr. Lloyd George's speech during the debate on the Address, especially by his declaration that "the defence of the Empire should be an Imperial concern," and that "it is too much to expect the small British Isles to undertake the defence of this gigantic Empire on every sea." Apparently these passages have been seized upon by ardent advocates in Australia of "a system of Imperial Federation," who have placed upon them an "interpretation" that "the representatives of the Dominions will be led into a discussion of the question of closer inter-Imperial relations." The Australian view, as judged by our Correspondent there, is that if the Conference touches this subject, it will be approaching exceedingly dangerous ground, "and that the weight of public support in Australia for any scheme which should contemplate, even remotely, a political union with the United Kingdom is almost negligible." A Special Correspondent of The Times who visited Australia last year came, it may be recalled, to the same conclusion, and there is no doubt that in Canada and in South Africa, as much as in Australia, the opposition to any scheme of Imperial federation in the traditional sense is exceedingly strong and well-nigh unanimous. New Zealand, perhaps, is less opposed to Imperial Federation, but the other three great Dominions have set their faces against it, and it would be most unfortunate if the impression were to prevail there that when the Dominion Prime Ministers meet in London next June there might be an attempt by British Ministers to involve them in some plan for establishing a set Constitution for the whole Empire. No idea of that kind is in the mind of Mr. Lloyd George or his colleagues. The Dominions may be sure of this, and we are sure that their leaders will have no difficulty in obtaining from Downing street an explicit assurance to that effect, if they think fit to ask for it.

SINN FEIN RAVINGS.

A violent attack on M. Viviani, who arrived to-day as the special envoy of the French Government with greetings to President Harding, was made yesterday evening by Judge Daniel Cohalan, the Sinn Fein leader, in the course of a meeting of Irish sympathisers to commemorate the Dublin Easter rebellion of 1916, telegraphs the New York Correspondent of The Times yesterday. Judge Cohalan denounced M. Viviani as a "propagandist," and declared that he was "a man who should not be received by a Christian people." "Let Viviani, his associates, and let the spokesman whom England has sent here be notified by public opinion," he added, "that America will not tolerate any interference with her interests." Other speakers attacked the American Legion and the Association of Veterans of the Great War, which were charged with being "an agency of the British Government." Resolutions were passed demanding, among other things, the repayment by England of her debt to America, with, alternatively, "the surrender of the British Fleet or the cession of Bermuda and the West Indian Islands as part payment." The harmony of the proceedings was disturbed by two women, who called for cheers for de Valera, with whom the Cohalanites have had a violent quarrel. The interrupters were ejected.

NEW SOUTH WALES LABOUR AND IRELAND.

A message sent from Melbourne by The Times Correspondent yesterday states that the New South Wales political Labour Conference has carried a resolution expressing sympathy with Ireland, and has ordered a telegram to be dispatched to Mr. Storey, the Premier, requesting him to interview the King, and to urge the withdrawal of troops. A resolution of sympathy was also passed by the Victorian Conference.

DISMAL COAL OUTLOOK.

The Labour Correspondent of The Times, writing to-day, says:—The coal situation is drifting rapidly towards the crisis, and the Easter holidays have prevented practically any progress towards a diversion. The Government have, as yet, given no sign of intervention, and, until the return of Sir Robert Horne, whose unremitting application to the vital matters confronting the Board of Trade for a considerable time past had earned him a holiday, it is not probable that a move will be made. Neither is it at all obvious in what direction a move can be made. An extension of control or any form of subsidy may be regarded as out of the question. The reports of the Mining Association and of the Miners' Federation are in the hands of the Government, and some indication of official intentions may, therefore, be looked for to-day or to-morrow. In the meantime, the owners are taking the only visible steps of a constructive or practical nature. They are drawing up in their own districts statements of the wages which the industry in those districts can afford to pay. These it is hoped to complete by Thursday, the last day of control, and they will be posted up at the pits as early as possible. The men's leaders may accept the invitations extended to them to have further conferences on the district bases, but at present the signs that they intend to do so are few. There is evidence of a good deal of heart-searching in some of the coalfields on the wisdom of pushing matters to extremes, but there is no general indication at present that an immediate breakaway from the decision of the Federation is to be expected.

THE COAL PROBLEM.

FOREST OF DEAN WORKERS' ATTITUDE.

A mass meeting of the Dean Forest miners yesterday declined to entertain the masters' offer, which, it was stated, meant a 50 per cent. reduction in wages. The men were advised to absent themselves from work on Friday.

REPARATIONS.

THE OCCUPIED TERRITORY.

THE DEVASTATED REGIONS.

AERONAUTICAL MATERIAL.

In a message, dated Paris, Monday, Reuter's Correspondent says:—The question of the establishment of the Customs line between occupied and unoccupied Germany has been postponed by the Conference of Ambassadors until to-morrow.

The Echo de Paris now states that further postponement is inevitable, owing to the dispersal of the British Cabinet Ministers for the Easter holidays. The proposal to employ German labour in the devastated regions has been received with considerable hostility by the greater part of the inhabitants of the ruined districts.

ANOTHER CONFERENCE.

A Rome telegram of Monday's date, received in Paris, reports that another Inter-Allied Conference, to consider the questions of reparations, Upper Silesia, and the Greco-Turkish war, will take place in Italy, probably under the Chairmanship of Signor Giolitti.

GERMAN AERONAUTICAL MATERIAL.

Replying to a Note from the Inter-Allied Aeronautical Control Commission, of March 17th, asking whether the manufacturers of aeronautical material are still supported by the German Government in their continued violation of the Entente's Boulogne decision (says a Berlin telegram), the German Government states that it still adheres to its standpoint, that the Versailles Treaty does not give the Allies the right to prolong the embargo on the manufacture and importation of aeronautical material, beyond July 10th, 1920. It proposes that the matter be referred to arbitration.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS AND AUSTRIA.

The Financial Committee of the League of Nations met this morning, says a Paris message, dated Monday, to consider the best method of executing the decision of the recent Inter-Allied Conference in London regarding the situation in Austria, including the conditions under which it would be possible for the Committee to assume control of certain Austrian assets, with a view to facilitating the attainment of the object in view. M. Auenol (France) read a memorandum summing up the task allotted to the Financial Section of the League in the execution of decisions of the London Conference.

AMERICA AND SOVIET RUSSIA.

NEW YORK PRESS COMMENT.

Commenting on the recent Note sent to the Soviet Government by Mr. Charles E. Hughes, the new American Secretary of State, the New York Times describes it as "surpassingly wise, sound, and satisfying," and considers that it will reassure the country regarding the Administration's clear understanding of present conditions in Russia.

On the other hand, the New York World thinks that, in rejecting the Soviet plea, President Harding and Mr. Hughes have gone further than ex-President Wilson and Mr. Colby, and further than it is prudent to go. "They demand, in effect," adds the newspaper, "an economic revolution in Russia, and that is a demand which cannot very well be substantiated as a basis for commerce. It would have been much wiser to have stuck to the essentials of international relationships, for it is with them that the Administration is primarily concerned."

The Tribune publishes an article under the heading "Lenin's Unchanged Spots," but makes no reference to Mr. Hughes's Note. It says, however, that "nothing toward benefiting the Russian people can be done by entering into any arrangements with the oppressors. This would only tend to prolong the existing tyranny. The only way to help Russia, or to bring about a resumption of normal international relations, is to assist in the removal of the cause of Russia's misery."

AMERICAN NAVY YARD'S DISCOVERY.

AN IMPORTANT ALLOY.

The officials of the Navy Yard here announce (says a Philadelphia telegram) that the scientists engaged at a Pittsburgh steel mill have discovered the formula which both the British and American naval authorities have long been seeking, and which the Germans used in the construction of the framework of their Zeppelins, making them lighter than steel, and of great tensile strength. Nothing was previously known of the composition of the aluminium alloy used by the Germans.

It is also stated that the scientists in question have discovered something else which is essentially American, for use in the new alloy, but the secret is being guarded most closely. With the help of the new discovery, it is hoped to complete, by the summer, the dirigible now building at Philadelphia, and to attempt with it an Atlantic flight.

POLAND AND THE JEWS.

ALL RESTRICTIONS ABOLISHED.

Reuter learns that the Jewish Correspondence Bureau has received the following message from Warsaw:—"The Government has published a decree in the Monitor Polski, according to which all restrictions upon Jews which remain in existence from Tsarist times are now abolished."

PEKING RUMOURS.

MONARCHICAL MOVEMENT DENIED.

An official statement issued in Peking on Sunday denies the rumours of an impending monarchical movement in Peking. The rumours apparently started with the recent arrival in Peking from Turkestan of the proscribed Boxer leader, Prince Tuan. Prince Tuan's return from exile was not sanctioned by the Government, and the diplomatic body determined to protest against it, compelling the Government to send the Prince, who, it would appear, is in a decrepit condition, back to Turkestan.

BRITISH SHOP ASSISTANTS.

PROPOSALS AT ANNUAL CONFERENCE.

The proceedings of the annual general meeting of the National Amalgamated Union of Shop Assistants, Warehousemen, and Clerks were resumed at Edinburgh yesterday.

It was agreed that for 2d. weekly an associate member under 16 years of age should receive dispute and victimisation pay at the rate of 7s. 6d. weekly, free legal advice, and have the use of the employment bureau.

The Executive submitted a resolution that the hours of employment be limited to forty-eight a week, that local authorities be given the power to enforce a closing hour earlier than seven o'clock where it was considered to be to the advantage of shop assistants and the public, that shop assistants be eligible to vote in respect of the adoption of the closing order as well as shopkeepers, and that efforts be continued for the payment of wages earlier in the week and a general early closing of shops on Saturdays.

The object of the motion to give shop assistants the right to vote on the closing order is to meet the present case where a small shopkeeper has the same voting power as a large firm employing many hands.

The resolution was passed unanimously.

A resolution was proposed by Mr. Turner, the general secretary, that the meeting should declare itself in favour of amalgamation with the National Union of Distributive and Allied Workers. The meeting was urged to hasten the day when there would be complete solidarity among the distributive workers of the country.

The resolution was passed unanimously.

SUB-POSTMASTERS' CONFERENCE.

The National Federation of Sub-Postmasters opened their Conference at Portsmouth yesterday. The President, Mr. Robert Fulton, of Londonderry, said that since last Conference the branches had increased by 32, making a total of 113. Their efforts to secure a reasonable increase in telegraph delivery fees had failed. In spite of the hundred per cent. increase to the public, they were asked to provide for work being done at an increase of about 45 per cent. over pre-war rates. The new claim for an improved scale of payment was endorsed.

RELIEF OF DISTRESS IN IRELAND.

The Lord Mayor of Dublin sent the following cablegram yesterday afternoon to the President of the United States with reference to his telegram to the American Relief Committee:—"Grand! The afflicted people of Ireland are sincerely grateful for your kind promise of financial support. America was always true to Ireland in her hour of trial. Funds urgently needed to restore destruction and relieve distress.—O'NEILL, Lord Mayor of Dublin, Chairman, Irish White Cross."

CADETS BOMBED.

DUBLIN STREET OUTRAGE.

A CIVILIAN WOUNDED.

An official report states that a bomb was thrown at a tender containing cadets of C Company, Auxiliary Division, R.I.C., at 11 o'clock yesterday in Camden street, Dublin.

The bomb missed the tender, and none of its occupants received injuries. The cadets returned the fire, but the man who threw the bomb ran round the corner and escaped.

There was a considerable amount of traffic in the street at the time, and one man was injured.

The bomb appears to have been thrown from the pavement, but it did not reach its objective, and the car was driven safely past, the occupants discharging a volley of shots at their attacker. The thoroughfare was crowded at the time, and the incident caused a panic. People ran hurriedly for shelter, while passengers in a tramcar which had just been drawn up at a stopping place threw themselves on the floor. During the firing a man on the sidewalk was seen to fall. He was later taken to the Meath Hospital, where he was found to be suffering from a serious wound in the left thigh. His name was given as Patrick Barden, sailor, of 44 Martin street.

There was much activity of Crown forces in the vicinity subsequently, and a portion of a bomb was found near an electric standard at the corner of Cuffe street. Windows in the street were shattered, and some shop fronts bore the marks of bullets.

TELEPHONE EXCHANGES RAIDED.

INSTRUMENTS CARRIED AWAY.

A report issued by the authorities states that at ten o'clock yesterday morning the Telephone Exchange in Mulgrave street, Kingstown, was raided by five men, who took away all the telephone instruments. They left in a motor car which had no identification plate.

About the same time armed men "held up" the staff in the Telephone Exchange at Dalkey and took away the instruments.

A simultaneous raid was made on the Blackrock Post Office, but the raiders in that case were apparently disturbed, and left without taking anything.

Inquiries made along the coast yesterday showed that raids were made almost simultaneously on the Telephone Exchanges of Kingstown, Dalkey, and Killiney at about 9.50 o'clock by armed, masked men, who seized a quantity of instruments at each of the Exchanges and carried them off.

The Kingstown Telephone Exchange, in Mulgrave street, was raided by eight or nine armed men, four of whom were masked with handkerchiefs. They "held up" the female clerk in charge and took possession of the premises. They seized various instruments, including operating head-gear, automatic ringing generators, a telephone code-book, plugs, receivers, etc., which they put in a Ford motor car in waiting and drove off in the direction of Cross avenue.

At the Dalkey Telephone Exchange two men "held up" the female clerk and dismantled the exchange, taking one telephone machine and part of another, as well as receivers, etc. They made their exit at the back and got away across fields.

Four men took possession of the Killiney Exchange at 9.50 a.m. They took a linesman's testing apparatus, two telephone machines, receivers, and other instruments, including 29 plugs, bells, books, etc.

At the Blackrock Post Office about the same hour a man, who had been noticed near the place earlier in the morning, was observed by an official to approach the door and affix a mask. The official promptly ran forward and slammed the door in his face. He then telephoned for the local police, who turned out "at the run," but the man had made off and was not overtaken.

ALARM IN KINGSTOWN.

HEAVY RIFLE FIRING.

MILITARY GUARDS ATTACKED.

Grave alarm was caused in Kingstown on Sunday night by heavy and prolonged rifle firing in the vicinity of the harbour. It seemed to be a regular battle. "Fully two hundred shots must have been fired. The firing lasted for nearly an hour and a half," said different residents who had heard the noises. No cause could at first be assigned, but later on Monday it was commonly rumoured that an attack on the military stations on the sea front had occurred. It was stated that a soldier had been shot through the arm, and that two others had been injured; that a bullet had entered a house half a mile from the sea front, and struck a young woman, who is said to have sustained a serious wound in the chest. A bullet struck a saloon carriage of the Great Southern and Western Railway Company's mail train which was lying all night at the local platform of Kingstown Railway Station. A large window and woodwork were smashed by the bullet.

The firing began at 10.55 p.m., and became intense for about twenty minutes, until about 11.15 p.m., and then died down to intermittent shooting heard until after midnight. The origin is said to have been the firing of a revolver shot at the sentry posted at the barracks of the local military garrison in Charlemont terrace, Crofton road, Kingstown. He promptly replied, and the guard turned out. The guards at the wireless station and coastguard station were turned out, and also the soldiers located at the naval base on the Victoria Wharf. Fusillades followed, which cost hundreds of inhabitants their night's rest. Beyond the casualties mentioned, which have not been confirmed, nothing was known in Kingstown yesterday save the fact that none of the military stations was actually raided, and that the attempt must have been abortive.

MILITARY REPORT.

The following report, which was issued by General Headquarters yesterday evening, cleared up the situation:—

About 11 o'clock last night the military guards at Kingstown were simultaneously attacked from three different points.

The fire was returned and the attackers soon dispersed, having failed to do any damage.

FAILED TO HALT.

MAN SHOT IN DUBLIN.

A man named Michael Ryan, aged 25 years, of 33 Upper Gloucester street, Dublin, was seriously wounded last night. It appears that he did not halt when challenged by a Curfew patrol in Marlborough street at about 8.30 p.m., and was fired upon. He was taken to Jervis street Hospital, where it was found that he had been struck in the abdomen, in which there were an entrance and an exit wound. His condition is serious.

REPUBLICAN FLAGS IN DUBLIN.

ONE SEIZED BY CROWN FORCES.

About 6 o'clock last evening Crown forces removed a Republican flag which was flying over Boland's Mill, Ringsend, one of the rebel strongholds during the Easter Week rising. They also tried to take down a flag on another building, but were unable to do so. They left with the flag that they had taken down, and the second flag was then removed by a number of young men.

THE SACKVILLE STREET AMBUSH.

DEATH OF THE INJURED GIRL.

The girl, Annie Seville, aged 16, of Findlater place, Dublin, who was wounded in the head during the attack on a Royal Air Force lorry in Sackville street, Dublin, on Saturday afternoon, died in Jervis street Hospital shortly after 9 o'clock last night.

"THE SEIZURE OF ARMS IN DUBLIN."

While the particulars regarding the seizure of arms in Great Charles street, Dublin, which we published yesterday, were issued from Dublin Castle, we are asked to state that the report was not official and was not authorised by General Military Headquarters.

CURFEW ARRESTS IN DUBLIN.

Last night 65 persons were arrested in Dublin during Curfew hours, and were lodged in the Bridewell.

A WOUNDED POLICE SERGEANT.

Sergeant Hanlon, Royal Irish Constabulary, a native of the County Kerry, who was shot at Ardfinnan, Cahir, and is at present in the Tipperary Military Hospital, had a narrow escape from death. He was shot in the back, the bullet passing right through the body without touching a vital spot. He is progressing favourably.

GREEK OFFENSIVE.

TURKISH POSITIONS OCCUPIED.

A SUCCESSFUL ATTACK.

CAPTURES OF PRISONERS AND MATERIAL.

An official communiqué on the Asia Minor operations issued on Monday in Athens says:—

The southern groups of our troops attacked the enemy occupying the line Chesme-Chahabal-Balmachud, and dislodged and pursued him as far as the line of the heights of Arabli Chiflik, six kilometres west of Afiun Karahissar. The attack on this line had to be interrupted on the approach of night. Our losses are insignificant.

The northern group's advance was continued as far as the line of Bazartsik-Kiurtik-Guesil-Credes, north of Sighunt. The enemy appears to be seriously entrenched in positions south of this line.

It is unofficially reported here, says an Athens telegram of Monday's date, that the Turks have evacuated Afiun Karahissar, and that it has been occupied by the Greeks.

A Smyrna despatch announces the occupation of Afiun Karahissar by the Greeks, who captured many prisoners and much material. The enemy has been pursued, and the announcement reports them fleeing towards Kioutahia.

MILITARY COURTS OF INQUIRY.

A MAGISTRATE'S DEATH.

A military court of inquiry, in lieu of an inquest, assembled at the Victoria Barracks, Cork, to inquire into the death of Alfred Charles Reilly, J.P., aged 58, managing director of a large bakery and restaurant business in Cork, who was shot while driving home in his pony cart.

A relation of Mr. Reilly's who lived in his house said that the men servants ran in at 5.30 p.m. on the day of the murder and told her that the master's pony had brought the pony cart home empty. Accompanied by others, the witness went down the drive, and found Mr. Reilly lying face downwards on the road about fifty yards from his own gate. He had been a Justice of the Peace for many years, but had taken no part in police court work for several years. He took no part in any political organisation.

A police witness said that he visited the scene of the murder, and was given, by a member of Mr. Reilly's household, who had picked it up near the body, a card bearing the words: "Spies, beware. Penalty for all.—I.R.A."

A doctor who examined the body said that when he arrived the man was dead, with four bullet wounds in his head and body.

The Court returned a finding of wilful murder against some person or persons unknown.

MILK-SERVER SHOT IN DUBLIN.

A military court of inquiry, in lieu of an inquest, was held at the Meath Hospital, Dublin, to inquire into the death of John Doody, a milkman, shot while on his rounds.

A small boy gave evidence that he accompanied Doody in the milk cart, and just after delivering milk at the last house on the round two men appeared. One seized the horse's head and the other shouted "Hands up." Doody was in the act of getting out of the cart, and had one foot on the shaft, when the second man fired and the milkman fell to the ground. The two men made off in different directions. It was dark, and witness did not recognise the men. Shortly afterwards another man came up, looked at the body, and also walked away. The witness spoke to Doody, who did not answer, and an ambulance came up within a few minutes and took him away.

Police evidence was given that Doody was a hard-working, respectable man, and very quiet. It was not known that he took any part in politics, and no reason could be found for the murder.

Medical evidence showed that death was due to a bullet wound that had penetrated the kidney.

The Court returned a finding of wilful murder against two or more persons unknown.

A COUNTY DUBLIN AMBUSH.

A military court of inquiry, in lieu of an inquest, was held at Swords, County Dublin, to inquire into the death of Constable John Patrick Lynch, who died from the effects of a gunshot wound received while travelling in a police tender near Ballough.

An R.I.C. constable, giving sworn evidence, said that he had been on duty in Balbriggan, and left the place with Lynch in the tender at 2.30 a.m. The car slowed down at a bad corner near Ballough, and ten or a dozen shots were fired at them from the left-hand side of the road. They did not stop, and returned the fire, some forty shots in all being fired. He thought a machine gun was being used against them. Constable Lynch, who was sitting beside the driver, said, after they had proceeded a short distance, that he was wounded. The witness said that he did not see how many men there were among the attackers. The wounded constable collapsed, and died shortly after reaching the barrack at Swords, before the priest and doctor arrived. There were four men besides the driver in the tender at the time of the attack.

Another constable who was in the car said that Constable Lynch fired about four rounds before he was hit, and continued to do so afterwards. He thought there must have been at least thirty men in the ambush, as the front seemed to extend for about fifty yards.

A medical officer said that he did not think the wounds were caused by a bullet, but by slugs of small calibre.

The Court found that deceased had died as the result of gunshot wounds, inflicted by some person or persons unknown with intent to murder.

MAN SHOT DEAD IN TRALEE.

The Press Association states:—A young man named McCarthy, of Lixnaw, was being conveyed from Tralee police barracks to the jail on Saturday night when the escort was fired on, and McCarthy was shot dead while attempting to escape.

THREATENING NOTICES.

It is officially stated that on the night of the 25th inst. printed notices were posted throughout the town of Sligo, to the effect that any person giving information concerning the whereabouts of Republicans, and also those paying dog tax, would be dealt with severely.

OUTRAGE IN CO. FERMANAGH.

On Sunday morning, according to an official report, Thomas Lester, a loyalist, residing in Desternan, Lisnaskea district of County Fermanagh, was fired at by unknown men, but suffered no injury.

ATTACKS ON EX-SOLDIERS.

A report issued from Dublin Castle states that at midnight on the 26th inst. at Rathcoon, in the Navan district of County Meath, Frank Dooner, an ex-soldier, was fired at and seriously wounded by a number of men armed with revolvers. Three of the shots discharged at him took effect, and his condition is serious.

When Charles Murphy was returning to his home in Cork recently he was met by three unknown men, one of whom carried a revolver. He was asked who he was, and replied "An ex-soldier," whereupon he was knocked down and stabbed under the armpit with some sharp instrument. He is in hospital, and his life is not out of danger.

THE MOURNE ABBEY AMBUSH.

EVIDENCE FOR DEFENCE IN CORK COURTMARTIAL.

At Cork Military Barracks yesterday evidence for the defence was continued in the case in which Cornelius Mulcahy, Patrick Ronayne, Michael Creedon, and Thomas Mulcahy are charged with levying war on the King at Mourneabbey, Co. Cork, and also preparing an ambush. The accused Ronayne denied all connection with the ambush. He stated that he was not a member of the Irish Republican Army or any other unlawful association. The only civilian he saw on his farm that day was the dead body of a man. He was taken out by the military to identify it. It was the body of Patrick Dorgan.

To the Prosecutor—He did not know that Dorgan was carrying a gun. He denied having a gun on the occasion, and firing at a military sergeant.

To the Judge-Advocate—He did not know how many were killed. He only saw one dead man, and one wounded.

Thomas Mulcahy, one of the accused, stated that he was going to Mourneabbey Creamery to buy a pair of boots that morning. On the way he heard firing, and went into a field. He found a cartridge on the road and put it into his pocket. A party of soldiers fired at him and wounded him in the shoulder and in the little finger of the right hand. He had no firearms, and he was not a member of the Volunteers or Irish Republican Army.

In cross-examination he denied having said to a sergeant that it would be better for his brother and himself to mind their farm, and if they did they would not be under arrest now. He also denied telling an officer that a shot gun found in the field was his.

At this stage the Court adjourned until to-day.

INDEPENDENT LABOUR PARTY.

GOVERNMENT POLICY CONDEMNED.

THE IRISH PROBLEM.

INTERNAL DISSENSIONS.

The Annual Congress of the Independent Labour Party was held at Southport yesterday. Herr Ledebour, of the German Independent Social Democrats' Party, was on the platform.

Mr. R. C. Wallhead, President, said that the past twelve months had seen the gathering of the fruits of Mr. Lloyd George's policy. Those fruits were unemployment, poverty, and suffering, and were the outcome of the capitalist structure of modern society. The speaker said that those responsible for this state of affairs displayed amazing optimism in believing that the people would accept this "Dead Sea fruit" as the fulfilment of the promises made to them. The unemployment was directly caused by the foreign policy of the Government. It raised sordid expectations in the minds of the people by the cry of "make Germany pay." The chaos in Europe could not be ended by military generals, politicians, financiers, or capitalists. It required men big enough to appreciate the necessity for an entirely new and noble outlook, who would proclaim that the time had come to think and act, not as petty nationals, but as Europeans and humanists. (Cheers.)

THE FAILURE OF CAPITALISM.

Imperialist capitalism did not produce that type. Its outlook was hopelessly depraved. General unemployment would continue to extend, and it would appear as though a deliberate policy was being pursued of keeping the peoples of Europe upon such a low standard of living as would create a favourable opening for the weakening of the trade unions and for an all-round attack upon wages. The people were now brought face to face with the eternal contradictions of capitalism. Millions were starving for want of commodities; factories and machinery were idle, and millions of skilled workers were unemployed. He rejoiced that at last the trading agreement with Soviet Russia had been signed. It constituted a victory for British Labour. It was not for men like Mr. Lloyd George and Mr. Winston Churchill to hurl maledictions at the Government of Russia. They represent a system and a social caste whose hideous policies had drenched the world with blood.

THE GOVERNMENT'S IRISH POLICY.

Mr. Wallhead said that the Government had proved its incapacity in regard to Ireland. It could not govern Ireland. Its policy had proved an absolute failure. Outrage followed outrage, and terror trod upon the heels of terror. They looked forward to the day when such an infamous Government would be swept from power.

Referring to the Liberal Party, the speaker said that its day had gone. Neither the working classes of Great Britain nor the Irish people would ever again place themselves under its sway.

PARTY DISAGREEMENTS.

With reference to the left wing movement in the Independent Labour Party, the President said that they could not permit allegiance to an outside body, the mandates of which were to be carried out against the expressed will of the party. They had a right to say to all who were professedly members of the party, but whose actions proved them to be completely out of sympathy with its methods, that the time had come to decide whether they should join an organisation to which they could honestly give their adherence. (Cheers.) He denied that the Communist Party had written suggesting that its Chairman should be invited to attend the conference to convey greetings.

Mr. Meyer, Liverpool, proposed that the Press should be asked to retire from the meeting. (Cries of "No.")

The Chairman refused to accept the motion.

BOLSHEVISM CONDEMNED.

The debate on affiliation to the Moscow Internationale was opened with a motion that the twenty-one conditions imposed could not be accepted. The resolution proceeded:—"This Conference rejects the idea that this country must follow Russian methods, and is opposed to the policy which is deliberately designed to create such conditions here."

Mr. Paling (Bradford), in putting the resolution, said that he deprecated and repudiated the Moscow suggestion of civil war, and made a bitter attack upon the suggestion made by Lenin as to revolution. He objected to the experiments in Russia, where the minority enforced its will.

Mr. G. Benson (North Salford), who seconded, said that Moscow's points were set out by idealists of despotism, disruption, and civil war. They were an insult to the British Labour movement. Under Moscow's ruling two-thirds of the Independent Labour Party Executive would be Bolshevists. The whole twenty-one points were based on a conception of affairs that did not exist in England. The fall of Tsarism was not due to Moscow. It was a sequence of the war, and all that the Russian had to do was to climb up on the rabbish. It was stated that capitalism in Russia was dead. (Loud cries of "Yes.")

Mr. Benson—Oh, you optimists! The revolution period in England passed 150 years ago. The Russian revolution ought to have taken place 350 years ago. The revolution as a weapon was used against feudalism, and not against capitalism.

Mr. J. L. Wilson (Liverpool), in moving an amendment that the twenty-one points were acceptable, defended the dictatorship of the working classes. He admitted that it might be necessary to exercise force "in various forms" so far as England was concerned when Moscow gave them the signal to be prepared for the worst.

There was some applause from the gallery, and the Chairman said that visitors should not interrupt. A delegate called out—"They have all had their expenses paid to come here."

The Conference adjourned without taking a vote.

IRISH DRAPERS' ASSISTANTS.

ANNUAL MEETING OF ASSOCIATION.

FINANCIAL DEPRESSION AND UNEMPLOYMENT.

The annual meeting of delegates of the Irish Drapers' Assistants' Benefit and Protective Association was held in Cavendish House, Cavendish row, Dublin, yesterday. Mr. J. F. Kennedy, President, presided.

The nineteenth annual report and statement of accounts for the year ending 31st December last stated that the work of the Association during that period had been arduous, but its results must have a lasting effect on the shop life of the country. Not since 1912 had the Association accomplished so much for the upliftment of its members. The membership of the Association had increased, and now stood thus—men, 4,532; women, 3,028; total, 7,560, which showed a substantial increase over the previous year. During eight months of the year organisation in the greater part of the country was almost impossible, and trade union administration was not only difficult, but positively dangerous. The position of employés in Ulster was unenviable; financial depression was evident everywhere, and unemployment had become the most engrossing problem for everybody. At least 50 per cent. of the members of the Association in Belfast had been out of work for over six months, and there was not the remotest likelihood of the situation in Belfast improving. The total income was £12,530 11s. 11d., and the expenditure £10,525 12s. 5d. During the year the wages of the members had been increased by over £300,000.

The Chairman, in proposing the adoption of the report, described it as a record of a good year's work, and one deserving the approval of the members.

Mr. Mason (Dublin) seconded the motion.

Mr. Aherne (Cork) protested against the spending of nearly £1,000 in connection with the A.O.H. dispute, and the investments, he contended, were not worth the amount at which they stood in the accounts, and ought to be written down at their true value.

Mr. Hayes supported the motion.

Mr. J. G. Galloway (General Secretary) pointed out that, for example, about £3,000 Dublin Corporation Stock had depreciated during the war from 33 to 50 per cent., but had appreciated now for the first time since the war, and the Great Southern Railway Stock was somewhat in the same position. So long as there was a high Bank rate, investments of this kind must suffer.

The motion for the adoption of the report and accounts was passed.

A resolution was passed in favour of the assistants who are in dispute with the Henry Street Warehouse.

The financial position of the various branches of the Association was reviewed, and great sympathy was expressed with those thrown out of employment in Cork and other centres.

Mr. Duffy (Dublin), speaking of Belfast, expressed the belief that, when the present trouble had passed away, Dublin would have in Belfast its strongest branch of the Association.

Mr. Aherne (Cork) proposed that the name of the Association should be changed to that of "The Irish Union of Shop Assistants and Clerks," but this was defeated and it was decided that a plebiscite of the members should be taken on the question of the change suggested.

Resolutions were passed urging the sale and the use of Irish manufactured goods, with the object of relieving distress caused by unemployment; that every industry should maintain its own unemployed; and instructing the Executive Committee to make the necessary arrangements and prepare the required rules for the purpose of administering the Unemployment Insurance Act.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

The following were elected officers for the year 1921:—

President, Miss C. Cahalan (Dublin); Vice-President, V. J. Aherne (Cork); General Treasurer, Frank McHugh (Dublin); Three Treasurers, R. Batt (Dublin), R. Downey (Dublin), and W. Spillane (Dublin). Auditors, Michael Crowley and Co., College Green, Dublin. Executive Committee—Dublin, W. J. Byrne, F. McHugh, E. J. Hayes, F. Duhig, Miss A. Sheahan, M. Brogan, C. Hardy; Cork, M. J. Murphy; Limerick, J. Flanagan; Waterford, Pierce Purcell; Tralee, P. Healy; Kilkenny, P. Dowling; Tipperary, James Riordan; Clonmel, Thomas O'Gorman; Enniscorthy, John P. Kelly; Boyle, Michael Toye.

A vote of thanks was passed to Mr. J. F. Kennedy, the outgoing President.

It was decided to hold the next annual meeting of delegates in Cork.

The following telegram was sent to the Shop Assistants' Union, Grand Hotel, Manchester:—"The nineteenth annual delegate meeting of Irish Shop Assistants at Dublin sends best wishes to comrades at Manchester, assuring them of loyal co-operation in the final great struggle for the emancipation of the common people of all lands from the blighting influences of capitalism and Imperialism. Fraternal greetings.—Galloway."

The following reply to the telegram was received:—"Shop Assistants' Union, in annual meeting assembled, heartily reciprocate good wishes and fraternal greeting from Irish comrades in conference, and join with them in co-operation to emancipate our fellow-workers from the evils of capitalism and Imperialism. Let us work for the solidarity of Labour.—Neil Beaton, President; John Turner, General Secretary."

SPECIAL EXTRA.

GREAT AVIATOR ACCIDENTALLY KILLED.

A telegram from Perth, Western Australia, dated March 29th, says:—Information has been received here of a fatal accident to Lieutenant McIntosh, the famous aviator, who, together with Lieutenant Parker, completed last year the flight by air from England to Australia, after experiencing various vicissitudes on the way, and after spending over six months on the trip. According to present reports, Lieutenant McIntosh met with the accident at Pilbara, a small mining township, some 500 miles north-west of Perth. He and his mechanic were killed, and a passenger was badly injured.

THE COMMUNIST RIOTS IN GERMANY.

A Times telegram from Halle on Monday states—During the last twenty-four hours the authorities have still further gained the upper hand over the Communist rioters in Saxony, and it becomes more and more evident that with the display of a little more decision the whole rising will be brought swiftly to an end. In Ammendorf, a village near Halle, an attempt was made early this morning to blow up a railway bridge. Eisleben is now definitely in the hands of the Government troops, who, according to the latest reports, have also successfully freed Bitterfeld from the Communists terrorising it yesterday. Only in Sangerhausen are the Reds still active. Here they have blown up one or two banks, and in an attack on an armoured car losses were sustained on both sides. In spite of the easier situation in Halle, the authorities are still very nervous. During the twenty-four hours of my visit I have been three times arrested with other journalists and taken to the police station under an armed escort. On the first occasion we had attempted to get some news from a local editor, and had been treated with some abruptness by the police, who ordered us not to speak English in the august presence of a sergeant. The second time we were surveying the situation when we were arrested by members of the Security Force. We spent an hour convincing them that we were bona-fide journalists. During this hour the head official took the opportunity to make use of some invective against the British and French Press, and especially The Times, because we were always hitting Germany when she was down. He even said that our treatment of Germany was one of the main causes of the present evil. If our experiences are any guide, the Communists have very little to fear from the intelligence of their opponents. Since yesterday there has been a state of siege in Halle. Everyone must be indoors by 9 p.m., and during the daytime not more than three persons may walk together in the streets.

Reuter's Paris Correspondent telegraphed under Monday's date:—A Berlin message to the Journal says:—The terrorists have blown up with dynamite the famous viaduct of Charlottenburg, known as the Viaduct of Sixty-six Pilars, over which pass most of the trains between the German capital and the provinces. The damage is said to amount to several million marks. It is added that the Communist agitation has greatly increased in intensity throughout the Berlin district. 16,000 military police in the capital are ready for immediate action, as also are the garrisons at Potsdam, Spandau, and Zossen.

JARROW STACK FIRES.

FIVE YOUNG MEN CHARGED WITH ARSON.

At Jarrow yesterday five young Irishmen were remanded in custody for a week on a charge of arson in connection with the stack fires in the district on Saturday night, and two were remanded in connection with fires at Boldon Colliery. The prisoners live at Jarrow. It was stated that their clothes smelt of oil and fire, and that they had matches in their possession. Six were arrested on the highway.

PUBLIC AMUSEMENTS.

THEATRE ROYAL.

The management of the Theatre Royal has introduced a novelty in the way of a variety entertainment—that is to say, the show will be kept on continuously from 3 o'clock till 7 o'clock each day. The experiment is an interesting one, and it worked well yesterday. The house was well filled during the four hours, and people came and went as they pleased. The programme this week is a good one. The principal item is a performance by Arturo Bernardi, a quick-change artiste, who, almost with lightning rapidity, assumes no fewer than thirty-five different characters. He plays the waiter at a restaurant, the visitor and the visitor's wife, an itinerant musician, a policeman, etc., and he, as conductor of the orchestra, represents in physique and method some well-known composers. He is a wonderfully gifted man, and he was heartily applauded for his work. A master of legerdemain named Siems gives an arresting exhibition of his art, which is quite out of the ordinary course. Lucy Brennan sang a couple of Lancashire character songs, which were very amusing. Martyn and Florence, lady and gentleman, play with clubs and balls very adroitly. The Three Brothers Huxter are exceedingly brilliant gymnasts. James Hunter is a good raconteur, although one or two of his stories might well be omitted. Sadie Morris, as a male impressionist, is a nice singer, and an artiste of graceful manner. The programme includes a good show of interesting pictures, in which Charlie Chaplin figures conspicuously.

PRINCESS PICTURE HOUSE.

A film entitled "The Love Defender," with June Elvidge and Madge Evans in the principal parts, is being shown at the Princess Cinematograph Theatre for the first half of this week. A further instalment of the pictorial serial, "Round the World for a Wager," and topical and humorous films are also shown. An entirely new programme, including a long film entitled "Beyond the Dreams of Avarice," will be presented on the last three days of the week.

AMERICAN EARTHQUAKE SHOCKS

Very severe earthquake tremors were recorded yesterday on the seismographs at Georgetown University, says a Washington telegram of Monday's date. It is estimated that the seat of the disturbance is located some 1,960 miles from Washington. The tremors began at 2.55 a.m. and lasted until after 5 a.m. The maximum activity occurred at 3.1 a.m.

PARISIAN WAR SCARS.

In a message, dated Paris, Monday, Reuter's Correspondent says:—The spots where the first and last German bombs fell in Paris have for some time been marked by plaques on adjacent walls, and it is now becoming a very general custom to mark, with some simple inscription, other points of the capital where damage was done by German bombs and shells. In conformity with the Treaty of Versailles, the Germans have now restored to France a number of historical war trophies, and, in particular, the guns which figured in the Napoleonic wars, and in the Siege of Paris in 1871.

SOCIALISTS AND MILITARY SERVICE.

The Socialist Congress, meeting here yesterday, says an Antwerp telegram, dated Monday, rejected almost unanimously a motion expressing opposition to all measures of national defence, and carried unanimously an order of the day in favour of six months' military service and the democratisation of the spirit of the army.

COUNTY LONGFORD FAIRS PROHIBITED.

During the past week many of the leading roads in Longford were trenched, particularly in the vicinity of Killashee and Ardagh. The Auxiliary Police compelled a number of young men to fill in the trenches on Good Friday. As a result of repeated trenching of roads, the Competent Military Authority has issued an Order stopping all fairs and markets in the towns of Longford, Granard, Ballinalee, Drumlish, and Lanesboro' until further notice.

EDUCATION AND ECONOMY.

ARCHBISHOP OF YORK'S ADDRESS.

NATIONAL UNION OF TEACHERS' CONGRESS.

There was a very crowded attendance at the Royal Pavilion, Bridlington, yesterday morning at the first session of the Easter Conference of the National Union of Teachers, and, as frequently happens, the occasion was marked by some notable utterances.

The Archbishop of York said that the time had arrived when Western civilisation must be re-made, if it was not to be un-made. It rested very largely with teachers as much as any class in the community on what lines in future that civilisation was to be re-made. After the war their hopes were full of reconstruction. Those hopes had been arrested; let them not be lost. At present Mr. Fisher's great Education Act was the first, and remains the only, great effort of reconstruction. It was hailed with universal approval. It was, in truth, only a great framework with the building still to be filled in. That building had been stopped for want of funds. As sensible men and women, they must recognise that there were great and unexpected difficulties, and there was some peril lest they alienated some of that new found faith in education in the breasts of the British public.

With regard to economy, they must be vigilant to see that if there was to be economy it should come last, and not first, in the field of education. (Applause.) Economy was not merely a question of saving money; it was a question of preventing waste. Many of them had long been convinced that they would be wasting a large amount of money upon elementary education unless and until that education was properly controlled and completed. Teachers in elementary schools were at present robbed of the fruits of their work owing to children being taken away from school life just at the time when they had succeeded in opening their minds. The children, like Oliver Twist, were calling for more, and unless they got more what they had had would be greatly robbed of its full value to their constitution. Just because there was that cry for economy they should see whether they could not make some advance without causing more burdens upon the taxpayers. One line of advance was the pooling, for the resources of national education, of available buildings, so that there should be everywhere a proper gradation of schools; and another line of advance was to secure a proper system for the whole country and for effecting the whole provision of selection, appointment, promotion, and distribution of teachers. Those two things could be done without any cost, and would make an immense advance. (Cheers.) They meant the unifying of the present dual system in elementary education. He was not in the least ashamed to say that, in his judgment, the time had come when that unifying should be effected.

Mr. G. H. Powell having been installed as President of the Union, the thanks of the Conference were accorded, on the motion of Miss E. R. Conway, former President, and Mr. J. Wilkinson, of the Executive, to Miss J. F. Wood, B.A., for her services to the Union as Vice-President, and she was presented with the ex-President's badge and a permanent record of that resolution as a memento.

Mr. Powell then delivered his presidential address, and announced the result of the election of officers and Executive. The elected President is Mr. W. C. Cove, of Rhondda, who is consequently President-elect for next year.

Next year's Conference will be held at Torquay.

EASTER MONDAY IN DUBLIN.

A QUIET DAY.

Easter Monday in Dublin, compared with previous similar holidays, was marked by unusual quietness. There was not the same joyous rush for pleasure to beauty spots or other favourite rendezvous that formerly was associated with the Eastertide festival. The continual storm of outrage and violence that pervades the whole country has had its depressing effect on holiday-seekers. There is no desire to participate in the journeys that were so much in vogue in recent years. "Curfew" now begins too early for the peace-loving public to go beyond the confines of the city, and, rather than run the risk of being caught out after hours, most people restrain their roving habits. There was a marked diminution in the numbers who usually leave by train, tram, motor car, and every other kind of vehicle on pleasure bent. True it is, that the morning was not at all inviting. Heavy clouds overhead did not portend holiday weather. Rain also fell at intervals and a blustery wind prevailed.

Business was, of course, suspended for the holiday, all the Government offices, banks, commercial establishments, and principal places of business being closed. Visitors to the Botanic Gardens, Phœnix Park, and the Zoological Gardens were many, and the day in these attractive places was not misspent.

The sport-loving public had their own enjoyment. The Ward Union meeting at Fairyhouse was the principal venue, and the special trains from the Broadstone terminus were comfortably filled. Many more, however, travelled by road, and the chars-à-bancs, taxis, and outside cars were well patronised. The sport being good, the races afforded much enjoyment. Football enthusiasts were provided with an ever-popular fixture in an encounter between Shelbourne and Bohemians, at Dalymount Park, in the Metropolitan Cup. Devotees of the Royal and ancient game also enjoyed the day.

"Curfew" naturally interfered with amusements in the evening. Among the theatres there was only one open—the Royal, which provided a continuous programme, as it will do all week, from three until seven o'clock. The picture houses were also open, and these had a large quota of support. Plot-holders took advantage of the day to get their plots into order, and many of these are now in an advanced stage.

AT THE PORT OF DUBLIN.

Easter Monday at the Port of Dublin was not entirely observed as a holiday, as a trio of cross-Channel steamers was listed for despatch. This necessitated the working of some squads of dockers, necessary to the loading of outward consignments. The shipbuilding premises of the Dublin Dockyard Company, Ltd., were closed. Liffeyside engineering and industrial concerns, the Custom House Docks, warehouses, premises, and official departments at the Port, also enjoyed a holiday.

EXCURSION TO HOLYHEAD.

The Easter Monday excursion arranged by the London and North-Western Railway Company between Kingstown and Holyhead was a success, and attracted a large number of holiday-makers. About 250 extra passengers booked for the excursion. The vessel was the Anglia (Captain Manning), the first of the railway company's mail packet fleet. It was greatly admired by the excursionists. The arrangements of the company enabled the holders of the special tickets to take the return trip on the Anglia, or to come back either via Kingstown or North Wall by the morning boats.

TRIBUTE TO SOLDIERS AT CELBRIDGE.

Mr. R. H. Paisley, Master of the Celbridge Workhouse, at the meeting of the Celbridge Board of Guardians on Saturday, reported that a company of military, consisting of an officer and 40 men, had been billeted in the Workhouse from about 3 o'clock on Thursday evening until about 8.30 that (Saturday) morning. On the Chairman inquiring if there had been any trouble, Mr. Paisley replied—No, they were a very decent lot. I noticed some of them were going to flaunt a Republican flag on one of their lorries, but the officer made the men take it down. They did not want to give offence or get offence. They did not give the slightest trouble in any way.

BAGGOTRATH CHURCH "GIFT" DAY.

A Missionary "Gift" Day will be held to-day in the Church Hall, Upper Baggot street, at 3 o'clock. An address will be given by Rev. L. Parkinson Hill, M.A., formerly of Japan. Tea and work stalls will provide attractive features. The following have kindly promised to sing:—Miss G. Broomfield, Miss Hermione Mervyn, Rev. W. Nesbitt Harvey, B.D., and H. C. Tisdall, R.H.A., with Mr. Raymond Revelle as accompanist.

EASTER MONDAY IN BELFAST.

Easter Monday in Belfast was marred by a persistent drizzle, varied by occasional downpours of rain. Excursions leaving for the seaside resorts in the morning were crowded by optimists bent on making the best of the day, but their courage deserved a better reward than it received, and large numbers returned in the evening wet and dispirited. Places of indoor amusement were crowded.

THE EMBARGO: A CANADIAN VIEW.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—As a Canadian travelling in Ireland I have been keenly interested in the many arguments brought forward by the farmers of the South of Ireland against the removal of the embargo on Canadian cattle.

If I may judge from certain newspapers printed here, the majority of the people in Southern Ireland belong to Sinn Fein; therefore, I assume that the majority of the South of Ireland farmers agree with Sinn Fein. This organisation claims that Britain should not interfere in Irish affairs. It follows, therefore, that they should have no say in Britain's affairs. Furthermore, as Canada did at least twice as much as Ireland to assist Britain in winning the war, I think it only right that Canada's needs should be considered before those of Ireland. If the farmers of the South of Ireland think that the market would be overcrowded with Canadian cattle, let them send theirs across the Rhine to their great friends of Easter, 1916.

In one of his many speeches Colonel O'Callaghan Westropp is reported to have said that, as less than ten per cent. of Britain's meat supply comes from Canada, the working classes can hope for very little reduction in the price of meat even if the embargo is raised. Again, he states that, if the embargo were lifted, Britain would be "flooded" with cheap Canadian cattle and the Irish farmer would have to go out of business. This gentleman would not like to say "that Canadian cattle are diseased, but they might become so by mixing with American cattle." I wonder if he could explain how Canadian cattle can mix with American cattle, and also why American cattle should be any more diseased than Canadian cattle. I assume that in this case the Colonel was trying to be diplomatic, but this sort of diplomacy is better known on the other side of the Atlantic under the term "hot air."

In yet another speech Colonel O'Callaghan Westropp is reported as saying that only one in three Canadian calves is born alive. This is not the case. Canadian cattle are generally better housed and have far more grazing acreage per head than Irish cattle. It follows, therefore, that they should be, and are, more healthy than Irish cattle. To one who has seen the huge expanse of fertile grazing lands in Western Canada it is a pitiful sight to see the cattle here trying to eke out an existence on the rocky hillsides and boglands of Ireland.—Yours, etc.,

"CANADIAN."

PRODUCE MARKETS.

CHICAGO, MONDAY.

WHEAT opened steady, ½c. down to 1½c. up, the rise being due to reports of cold weather and large seaboard clearances; but the decline became general on the weaker cash position in the South-West, a disappointing export inquiry, and commission house selling; then the advance was resumed under predicted less favourable crop reports, a better cash demand, strength of outside markets, the bullish visible supply exhibit, and shorts covering. The market closed firm at 3½c. to 2c. gain. Spot easy. No. 2 hard winter, spot, 154½; No. 3 hard winter, spot, 149. March, 157; May, 143½; July, 126½.

OATS steady at ½c. improvement; May, 40⅞; July, 42; September, 42½.

MOTOR CYCLING.

DUBLIN AND DISTRICT RELIABILITY TRIAL.

The first of the season's reliability trials, under the auspices of the Dublin and District Motor Cycle Club, took place yesterday, over a route of 120 miles. Of the thirty-four entries, thirty-one took part in the competition. The start took place from Terenure at 9 a.m., the riders being sent away at the customary intervals of one minute each. Owing to the existing restrictions with regard to motor cars, it was necessary to confine the route of the trial to a radius of twenty miles from Dublin, and, consequently, a very complicated route had to be selected, in order to embrace the test hills of the northern portion of County Wicklow. Quite a number of the competitors found difficulty in following the route, and this, coupled with the severe conditions, must be accountable for the circumstance that only the following nine riders finished:—P. H. Hurse, 4¼ h.p. B.S.A.; G. Daly, 4 h.p. Triumph; N. Leppler, 7/9 h.p. Indian and sidecar; J. A. Carville, 4 h.p. Triumph; T. E. Green, 2¾ h.p. Enfield; G. Thompson, 8 h.p. Matchless and sidecar; H. W. Nesbitt, 4 h.p. Douglas; A. Carton, 5 h.p. Indian; J. McEntaggart, 7/9 h.p. Indian.

SPORTING NEWS.

WARD HUNT (FAIRYHOUSE) MEETING—YESTERDAY.

A BIG GATHERING.
THE WEATHER A SPOIL SPORT.
NUMEROUS FALLS.
IRISH GRAND NATIONAL.
VICTORY OF BOHERNORE.

This year's celebration under the auspices of the Ward Union Hunt was almost completely spoiled by the weather, and seldom, if ever, have visitors to Fairyhouse experienced such atrocious conditions, both overhead and underfoot, as those which prevailed yesterday. It rained practically throughout the day, and this coming on top of the recent pluvial visitation left the paddock and the course in a very bad state, the former resembling a quagmire, thus rendering locomotion anything but a pleasure, whilst the track rode very deep and holding, and this latter would account for the big percentage of falls, many of which were in a large measure due to the horses slipping up at the fences. Those of the competitors who did get safely round pulled up very leg-weary, and yet with all these drawbacks the sport attained to a very interesting standard.

The unpromising outlook in the morning did not act as a deterrent to those who "come rain, come shine" make the annual pilgrimage to Fairyhouse on Easter Monday, and the attendance, both in the enclosure and outside, showed little, if any, falling off from that of previous years, and a thoroughly sporting crowd they were. The abnormal amount of grief which overtook the horses was indicated by the fact that out of a total of 61 runners in the seven races only 28 completed the course. Praiseworthy punctuality was observed in starting the various events, and the Stewards entertained visitors in their customary hospitable fashion.

The chief event, the Irish Grand National attracted a field of 11, a notable absentee being All Sorts, who gave way to his stable companion, Greenogue, and Mr. Barbour ran the Baldoyle winner, Fly Rose, in preference to Sir Huon. She was quickly installed favourite, and wound up a sound 7 to 4 chance, best backed of the others being Greenogue, Bohernore, and Balrennit, whilst Pam Nut and Tainted Goods were also supported. The last-named was bang up with the leaders for nearly three miles, when the going beat him, and Fly Rose was in dire trouble when she toppled over at the fourth last fence, and so winded was she that she was unable to rise to her feet for a quarter of an hour. From this juncture the race practically resolved itself into a duel between Bohernore and Greenogue, and a dour struggle it was all the way home, but Bohernore battled it out with the greater resolution, and he had a length and a half to spare passing the judge's box. To the surprise of most people who had a good view of the race an objection was lodged by the rider of the second on the grounds of bumping and boring, and this was promptly overruled. Bohernore, who belongs to a Northern owner, was sent to the post in excellent trim by Mr. Cecil Brabazon, who is to be congratulated on sending out the winner of such an important race.

Proceedings were ushered in by the Percy Maynard Cup, a race instituted in memory of the late Master of the Hounds, and for this we had eight runners, of whom only two finished. Ballinacrad showed a bold front for two and a half miles, when he was done with, and Dudu then flattered, but was beaten when she fell at the last fence, where Ethel's Pride, capably ridden by his owner, Mr. Bobbett, had taken her measure, and he scored in a common canter from General de Wet II. Grief was also abundant in the Ward Hunt Cup, for which we had 12 starters. Cherry Branch, who had won the race in 1916 and again last year, was installed a hot favourite from Connemara Black, and Mr. N. J. Kelly's mare may be said to have always dominated the situation. The majority of the candidates were very leg-weary at the end of three miles, at which point Traveller's Joy was going well, as were Lower Grange, Jurisprudence, Connemara Black, Simplicitas, and Another Dan, but a little further on Cherry Branch drew out with the verdict in safe keeping, and she won with consummate ease from Simplicitas, who swerved at each of the last two obstacles, and Lower Grange, who deprived Connemara Black of third place.

The Military Steeplechase proved little more than an exercise canter for Conny, who, it will be remembered, recently won the Barbour Cup, the most valuable point-to-point race run for in Ireland, and, as then, she was ridden by her owner, Mr. W. F. Sankey, who had steered Cherry Branch to victory in the Ward Hunt Cup earlier in the day. It was disappointing to find only seven runners in readiness for the Maiden Plate, which, however, provided perhaps the most thrilling finish of the day, King's Courier only getting the better of the argument with Maelstrom in the last few strides, and had they much further to go the verdict would probably have been reversed. Clifton Clinker, who gave a most ungenerous display, was early out of it by blundering at the third fence and refusing at the next; and Uproar and Cherry Rod were beaten at the end of two miles.

Green Wavelet, a very useful-looking type of hunter-chaser, made a rare exhibition of her 10 opponents for the King's Cup, in which she raced clear away from the others, and at one time held a lead of nearly 300 yards. She could afford to make a mistake at the penultimate fence, and another at the last, where she was nearly down, and yet win in a common canter. She is trained by P. Behan at the Curragh, and previously to yesterday had never run in public. The end came with the Fairyhouse Plate, in which Treachery was endeavouring to emulate last year's success, and right well he acquitted himself, but his welter burden tied him to the ground in the concluding stages, and he was run out of it by Outlaw, who was in receipt of 26lbs. from the top-weight. After going three-quarters of a mile, Daisy's Pet fell, and Ballinacrad went on in front, followed by General De Wet II., Dudu, Golden Dawn, and Ethel's Pride. Half a mile from home Ballinacrad was beaten, and later fell. Dudu and Ethel's Pride then drew clear away, but Dudu fell at the last fence, leaving Ethel's Pride to win by fifty lengths from General De Wet II., who was the only other to complete the course.

Cherry Branch cut out the work from Hatchet, Jurisprudence, Connemara Black, Lower Grange, Another Dan, and Kaffir Chief, with Traveller's Joy next, and Blackwater II. last. The continued in practically the same order until a mile from home, when Traveller's Joy, Kilballyowen, Lower Grange, and Simplicitas headed Cherry Branch. A little further on Kilballyowen fell, and, Cherry Branch resuming command, made the remainder of the running and won easily by fifteen lengths from Simplicitas, with Lower Grange, fifteen lengths off, third. Connemara Black was fourth, the only other to finish. Another Dan and Jurisprudence fell at the last fence.

Barca set the pace to Tainted Goods, Balrennit, Greenogue, Three X., and Bohernore, with Irish Falloch and Fly Rose next, and Lord Callart last. After half a mile Balrennit drew to the front, and carried on the running from Barca, Tainted Goods, Greenogue, Three X., Bohernore, Fly Rose, and Pam Nut. There was little change in this order until three-quarters of a mile from home, when Pam Nut took command, followed by Bohernore, Balrennit, Greenogue, Barca, Tainted Goods, and Fly Rose. At the fourth last fence Fly Rose fell, and Greenogue went to the front, followed by Pam Nut, Bohernore, and Brendan's Glory. Coming to the last fence Bohernore headed Greenogue, and though challenged again on the flat, won by a length and a half; eight lengths divided second and third. Balrennit was fourth, the only other to finish. Brendan's Glory fell at the last fence.

An objection to the winner for crossing and boring was over-ruled.

"THE RACEHORSE" concluded the Lincolnshire Handicap and Grand National remarks in last Tuesday's RACEHORSE in the following terms:—"LINCOLNSHIRE HANDICAP. I "know sufficient about the situation to strongly "advise my readers to support SENHORA to win "a good stake, and save the money on her for a "place, or back her each way for equal amounts "if they like. This is the best advice I can give. "GRAND NATIONAL. Going on what I know I "recommend readers to back SHAUN SPADAH "to win, and to save the stake for a place. He "is a stayer of the first water, was never in better "form in his life, and has two great advantages: "he is a horse who has successfully negotiated this "trying course before, and he will have the crack "steeplechase jockey (F. B. Rees) in the saddle. "It is for these reasons that he receives my vote." RACEHORSE, 2d. Every Tuesday and Saturday. —(Advt.)

FRANCE v. ENGLAND.

CLOSE MATCH IN PARIS.
VICTORY OF THE ENGLISH TEAM.

At Colombes, Paris, yesterday, the match between France and England resulted in a win for the Englishmen by 10 points to 6 points. Beyond the substitution of the Light Blue forward, G. S. Conway, for R. R. Gardiner, there was no further change in the English team. Piteu came into the French side at scrum half, vice Struxiano, while of the original forwards, P. Pons, A. Thierry, and R. Lasserre cried off. In the first half Lowe and Blakiston scored for England, Hammett converting in each case, while Crabos, the French captain, kicked a penalty goal, England leading at half time by 10 points to 3 points. The second period was splendidly contested. There was only one additional score, Crabos again being successful with a penalty kick. Result:—

ENGLAND—2 goals (10 points).
FRANCE—2 penalty goals (6 points).

The teams were:—

ENGLAND.—*B. S. Cumberlege (Blackheath); *C. N. Lowe (Blackheath), L. J. Corbett (Bristol), *E. Hammett (Newport), *A. M. Smallwood (Leicester); *Lieut. C. A. METROPOLITAN CUP.

BOHEMIANS v. SHELBOURNE.

Bohemians were without Byrne, their usual goalkeeper, in the Metropolitan Cup match against Shelbourne yesterday at Dalymount Park, Maltman filling the vacancy, and they suffered one of the heaviest defeats inflicted on them by the Ringsend club. Shelbourne won by 5-1, but it was a much more interesting match than the score is suggestive of. The high wind and rain to a great extent spoiled the game, but while Shelbourne were the superior team, and on the run of the play were well deserving of their victory, they were scarcely value for so many goals. Result:—

Shelbourne ... 5
Bohemians ... 1
